They finished the Jameson Memorial Hospital Campaign last night in The Castle, and what a finish. When the last report was in and the totals counted, the list of subscriptions showed $62,658.50, a total that ten days ago would have been declared impossible by even the most rabid hospital enthusiast.

It couldn't be done, so a lot of people thought and said. The $60,000 asked for was too much at the present time and while they might get half or three quarters of it, it couldn't all be secured. But they did, and then added nearly three thousand dollars to the total just for luck. In addition to that there is one more good sized subscription expected to come in which will bring the total over $64,000.

Chairman Satisfied
There was considerable speaking during the campaign but the closing night saw but little speaking. General Chairman Fred L. Rentz made one short speech of congratulation in which he congratulated the teams and the workers. "This is a wonderful night," said he. The remarkable thing you men and women have done has made me very happy. It goes beyond raising funds for the Jameson Memorial Hospital, it stands New Castle out tonight in the eyes of the world in the most favorable light it has been in years.

"This is the dawn of a new era."

PA NEW OBSERVES

Only a continued fall of snow was awaited by State Highway Department workers this morning to start out and clear the roads in the country.

Roofs were blanketed white and the early riser found that the first big snow of the season made an effort this morning to make up for lost time.

Auto chains were in demand this morning for the first time this winter. Cars without chains were having a lot of difficulty on the hills, especially if they were obliged to stop. Many traffic tieups were reported in the city during the early morning.

On the state highways the ashing crews were out early, sprinkling the hills with ashes, in order that traffic could proceed without danger.

The groundhog and the weatherman certainly served notice this morning that some winter is yet due to park down in our community.

Lots of people had trouble locating their snow shovels when they had use of them this morning. The two inch fall of snow was quite a novelty, being the first of the winter. Kiddies who got sleds for Christmas will have their first opportunity of testing them out, that is, if the snow lasts until this evening.

Daily Weather Report

U. S. weather bureau statistics for the 24 hour period ending at 9 o'clock this morning follows:

River stage 6.8 feet, falling.

Statistics for the same date a year ago, follow:
Maximum temperature, 36.

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Four brutal hammer slayings were dramatically solved today when Paul Harrison, 37-year-old jobless mechanic, confessed to the killings, police announced.

Trapped in his hotel room, Harrison, believed to be Chicago's long-sought "phantom club maniac," delivered his confession at detective headquarters after an all-night grilling.

Declaring he had no motive for any of the gruesome murders, the unemployed mechanic named as his victims, Dr. James Shaffer, 54-year-old dentist, Miss Norma Newby, 36, Eugene Davis, 21-year-old garage watchman, and Charles Page, 27.

Attempted Suicide
After his capture Harrison first confessed to the killing of Davis, whose body, with his skull crushed, was discovered in a garage Sunday. The mechanic then announced he had taken poison.

He was rushed to the City Hospital

McCormick Is Celebrating; He's 100 Years Old Today

There's a birthday party out on the Perry Highway, near Grant City, today, a party that is celebrating the birth of a young fellow who saw the light of day just one hundred years ago in Derry, Ireland. James McCormick is one hundred today and his family, his neighbors and his friends are making merry with the guest of honor as spry as some of the guests who are forty years younger.

Attaining one hundred years of age is a feat which more than a few accomplish, but retaining eyesight and virility is something else again. For all his century of years Mr. McCormick has a keen insight into current events and nothing escapes his attention. China, prohibition, the depression, governmental expense, all of these he discussed with a clearness that is surprising. Most of his time he spends sitting by the stove reading, for his eyesight has remained good.

Hard Work and Rest
Nor is he dogmatic about his method of living being the one way to attain longevity.

JAMES MCCORMICK
The question was asked him, to what he ascribed his long life, "I don't know that I have any particular formula to offer," said he, "but in my own case there are three things which may have been responsible, hard work, plenty of rest and no dissipation."

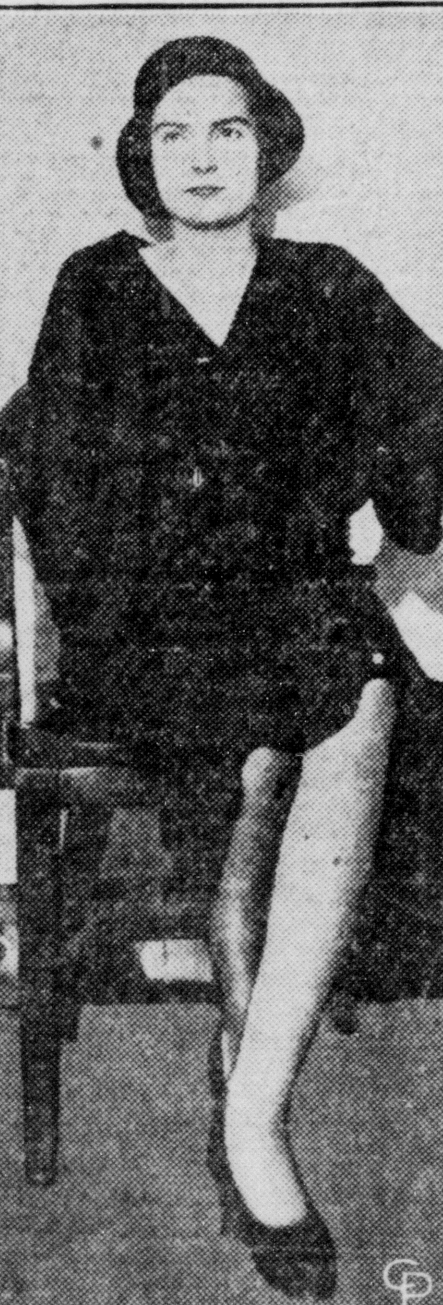

"When I was a young man I started to work hard and I had to do it until a few years ago. I never dissipated and I always got my rest. Perhaps if the young men of today would go to bed earlier than they do, they would be the better for it."

As to the birthday party, he made little fuss about it. With his eyes twinkling he said, "they don't need to make any fuss over me just because I am a hundred years of age."

As he sat in his old fashioned rocking chair the old gentleman touched upon a number of subjects that are in the days' news. "Of course nobody is ever going to ask me to go to Washington to give my views," said he, "but if they did there is some things I would suggest. I would say to them, cut down the number of bureaus and departments, cut the salaries of government officials in half and let's get

EARLY EVACUATION OF AMERICANS MAY OCCUR FROM SHANGHAI ZONE

To Quarter Evacuated Americans In Japanese Capital If Action Becomes Necessary—Report Battle Is In Progress In Shanghai—Japanese Deny Any Marines Landed At Nanking.

(By International News Service)

Early evacuation of American residents from Shanghai loomed today with reports from Tokyo that United States Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes had been instructed to quarter Shanghai's American community in the Japanese capital if evacuation became necessary.

A desperate battle between Chinese and Japanese forces continued at Shanghai, no gain for either side being reported six hours after the Japanese launched a new offensive bringing naval guns into play in Shanghai for the first time.

China clamped down a rigid censorship on outgoing cables over the Great Northern route.

The League of Nations Council met in Geneva, where J. H. Thomas, British Dominions Minister, vigorously denounced the attack upon Shanghai and described the situation there as "war in everything but name."

No Marines Landed.

Despite the gathering war clouds, the general disarmament conference under league auspices was scheduled to open at 4:30 p. m.

In an exclusive interview with Floyd Gibbons, International News Service correspondent at Shanghai, Japanese Admiral Shiozawa vigorously denied that any Japanese marines had been landed at Nanking, former capital of the Chinese republic. This report, widely published yesterday, was not carried by International News Service from any of its correspondents in China.

Imposed Censorship.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—China has imposed a censorship on all messages to foreign countries, the Great Northern Cable company announced this afternoon.

Losses in Battle.

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A Central News dispatch from Shanghai this afternoon said an official Japanese report declared Japanese losses in the Shanghai fighting up to 6 o'clock tonight were 23 marines killed and 85 wounded. Four Japanese civilians were killed and nine wounded.

New Protests.

TOKYO, Feb. 2.—New representations to Japan were made tonight by the ambassadors of the United States, Great Britain and Italy. The envoys were in lengthy consultation with Foreign Minister Ken-kiichi Yoshizawa at the foreign office.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 2.—"No Japanese marines have landed in Nanking and I have no intention of landing them there."

In these words the admiral of the Japanese fleet here, Kotochi Shiozawa, definitely denied at noon today that he had landed marines at the Chinese capital, temporarily abandoned, which was bombarded for over two hours yesterday from Japanese ships.

The admiral received me in his quarters aboard a Japanese gunboat moored in the Whangpoo river at Soochow creek, in front of the Japanese consulate.

"Why did Japanese cruiser from middle river open fire unprovoked on a sleeping town?" he was asked. "Our fire was not unprovoked and Nanking was not asleep," Shiozawa replied, smiling.

Claims Propaganda.
"That's the kind of misleading propaganda we have to deal with," he said. "The facts are that the Chinese military opened fire on our ships at 11 o'clock (11 p. m. Monday)."

"It was dark and nobody could see who fired the first shot. And that's why the Chinese blame us. Three shells were fired from the Lion fort and at the same time the Chinese regular army opened up machine guns on a small detachment of our

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—With Japanese forces resuming violence and destructions in Shanghai, new and sterner representations have been made to the Tokio foreign office by the United States and Great Britain.

The exact nature of these representations was clouded here in official reticence, but it is believed that the powers have gone further than heretofore in impressing upon the Japanese government the necessity of exercising some restraint upon its naval commanders at Shanghai.

The tense and critical situation in the Far East again occupied the attention of President Hoover and his cabinet when it met today.

Not only have the powers addressed Japan, but China as well, it was reported. Both powers have been put on notice that the present situation is highly dangerous not only to foreigners resident in the interna-

Hospital Head Declares Ruth Judd Is Insane

Head Of Arizona State Insane Hospital, Says Mrs. Judd Is Demented

DOES NOT KNOW
RIGHT FROM WRONG

Family Tree Bared At Trial,
Traces Of Insanity Carefully Outlined

(International News Service)
PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 2.—Winnie Ruth Judd's family tree, with its far flung branches, reared its curious head in court today at her trial for the "double trunk murder."

Mrs. Judd, the pretty young wife of a physician, is accused of killing her "dearest friends" Agnes Ann Lerol and Hedvig Samuelson and shipping their bodies in trunks to Los Angeles. The present trial is on the Lerol charge.

Insanity Traced
A long strain of insanity among Ruth's ancestors, traced back 100 years, was to form a basis for the conclusions of psychiatrists attempting to prove that she was the victim of hereditary insanity.

Dr. George W. Stephens, superintendent of the Arizona hospital for the insane, described Mrs. Judd as a "psychopathic personality." She did not know right from wrong when she killed Mrs. Lerol and Miss Samuelson, he said.

Dr. Stephens told of Mrs. Judd's delusions of motherhood and said she had shown him pictures of "her baby." These pictures, he said, were hung in her jail cell near framed pictures of the two young women the state charges she murdered. Dr. Stephens said Mrs. Judd's indifference at the trial was a marked sign of dementia praecox.

HOSPITAL FUND WORKERS WILL RAISE $15,000

a place now where we must have help if the hungry are to be fed. We need between $15,000 and $17,000 to carry this work on. Because of the results accomplished by this group of men and women here, I have brought this question before you, wondering if you have any suggestion as to our way out of the dilemma. The hungry are here, their need is immediate; they must be fed."

Attorney C. A. Patterson
Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, who headed the professional group in the hospital campaign, arose after Mr. Love had finished.

"Most of us present tonight have been in practically every campaign that has been conducted here for years. As I look around tonight I see the same old faces I always see around campaign boards. And quite likely if we went home tonight from the hospital campaign with no other campaign in sight, we would say to ourselves that's the last one for me. Then when the next one came on we would be back in it. It strikes me that feeding the hungry just now is the paramount need. Somebody has to do it, and if in a week or two a campaign were started, this same group of people would be back in it. Now, then, we have an organization right here in our hands, one that just finished a successful campaign. Why not utilize it for this work of getting funds to feed the hungry, which must be done, and we will probably have to do it."

Thomas H. Hartman, president of the Lawrence Savings and Trust Company, spoke briefly and said: "I cannot make long, flowery speeches and I shall not attempt to at this time. The need is here, we must face it. The thing that is for us to go out and get the money, and speaking for myself, I am in favor of it."

Describes Work

Howard B. Richards, who has been working in the mayor's relief committee since its inception, described what the committee had been doing. Said he: "The money is not given out as charity, and I want you to remember that this is not strictly a charitable business. These men who get help from the mayor's relief committee are returning labor for it, and that will you see in the Neshannock creek, cleaning up of Gaston Park has all been done by such men. They give value for what they get so that the money you raise will have a dual value. It will feed the hungry and it will get a lot of work done for the citizens of the city. I believe we should hear from Mr. Wells, who directed the hospital campaign."

F. Herbert Wells, who directed the set-up of the hospital campaign, and who is a former editor of the New Castle News, spoke, following the suggestion of H. B. Richards. "Just now the campaigns in the United States that are getting national and state attention are campaigns such as these. President Hoover has appointed Walter Gifford as his chairman of relief work and campaigns are being conducted all over the country."

"Here you have a need. You can let people go hungry. They must be fed now. Here you have an organization that just finished showing what it can do. To build another organization would take 2 months or more and when you had it completed it would be no more effective than this one has been. Why not utilize this organization and get the money immediately? Mr. Love has told you the need is for not less than $15,000. You can do it in a few days."

Fred L. Rentz, Chairman
"I can think of no better chairman than the one you have had in this hospital campaign. Fred L. Rentz. As for myself, if you want me to stay and aid in this campaign I will not cost you a cent."

The offer made by Mr. Wells to donate his time and energies for this campaign brought a round of applause. Mr. Rentz rose following Mr. Wells and said: "I have been tired for days, working on this hospital campaign. I had thought that when it was over I could rest, but you people have started another job that challenges all of us. It is a job that needs doing and I will take the chairmanship. After that fine offer of Bert Wells, who could refuse?"

In accepting the post of chairman of the relief campaign Mr. Rentz said: "This campaign has to have a start and the New Castle News will head the list with $200 per month for five months. The money has to be raised, and speaking for The News, I want to get the campaign under way."

A poll of the division leaders was taken and every one of them stood up and announced that their teams would participate in the relief campaign.

W. F. Moody spoke briefly and likened the work of the mayor's relief committee to a football game. "Now the spectators must get into the game," said Mr. Moody. "We on the committee have done what we could, but the job is bigger than what a few people can handle. We must have help and it is most heartening to see this splendid body of men and women offer themselves to you have tonight."

Some pledge cards had been printed in anticipation of the campaign being started and these were distributed among the teams. The pledges call for monthly subscriptions for five months. To insure the feeding of the hungry in the next few months the committee needs $15,000. From the spirit manifested Monday night in the Castle, that total will meet the same treatment the $60,000 total for the hospital did.

Shanghai, Feb. 2.—4:36 p. m.—Japanese forces started a general offensive in the Shanghai area at 2:30 p. m. today, which still was under way two hours later.

Land, air and naval forces combined their attacks, throwing all Shanghai into a state of terror.

A Japanese cruiser opened a heavy shell fire in the direction of Chapel, seriously endangering the International Settlement.

Japanese planes took the air soon after the lifting of a heavy fog which had shrouded the city all morning.

Japanese land naval forces, concentrated opposite the Chinese in the Chapel sector, were estimated as high as 10,000.

Believe Chinese Augmented
Chinese forces were believed to have been augmented by 50,000 men who entered the Shanghai area during the day.

Residents of the city believed a major engagement was breaking out, with both forces keyed for the heaviest of fighting.

Field guns and machine guns were used in the Japanese drive, which started new fires throughout Chapel, large sections of which were razed last week.

While the Chapel attack continued Chinese fired 12 trench mortar shells in the Hongkew area, damaging buildings. No casualties were reported. The area was virtually deserted.

Japanese patrols were scarce along Soochow creek section, the attackers concentrating all their forces on Chapel.

Await U. S. Reinforcements
The situation was at the most critical stage since the trouble broke out here. Foreign authorities anxiously awaited the arrival of American and British reinforcements.

Several American and Canadian pilots who came to Shanghai on the promise of the promises of Chinese anti-Japanese organizations to provide flying jobs, today turned against them by joining the volunteer corps activities.

After existing as beach combers for many weeks, these flyers today were lined up against the Chinese, for whom they came here to fight the Japanese.

The International Settlement defense council planned further action against the Japanese. They drew up a list of Japanese violations of international usage which have occurred since last Thursday. They planned to present a strong protest this afternoon.

American marines guarding the International Settlement boundaries announced their intention to permit Chinese refugees from the area under the heavy Japanese fire to enter the settlement at will.

where police physicians administered an antidote. Then, he was taken to detective headquarters where, after many hours of interrogation he delivered his confession to Lieut. Sullivan and assistant state's attorney Harry S. Ditchburne, according to authorities.

All of the victims named by Harrison were bludgeoned to death. Miss Newby was brutally clubbed last March in the Elk Grove Forest Preserve.

Dr. Shaffer, was found dead in his office, his head crushed in, January 24.

Davis, was found dying from a brutal beating in a garage last Sunday.

Mysterious Feeling
The fiendish slayings were prompted by a "mysterious feeling," Harrison told police.

The Davis murder led to Harrison's capture. Shortly after Davis' body was found, an attendant recalled that Davis was last seen with Harrison.

The slaying of Miss Newby was one of Chicago's greatest crime mysteries. A nation-wide search was conducted for the girl who was missing 15 days. Her battered and mutilated body was found in the snow-covered forest preserve, March 17.

FINAL REPORT OF CAMPAIGN TO PASS $64,000

It is the first time this hospital has been out of debt. For myself let me say that I have never seen such co-operation in New Castle as has been shown during this campaign, and I have seen every fuss of any size in this city for the past forty years. Here were gathered merchants, doctors, lawyers, nurses, all of them with a common object in view and all of them striving for the same goal. It has been wonderful and my deepest appreciation goes out to you all. The meeting is now open for remarks by anybody who cares to speak. I have nothing more to say. God knows I am satisfied."

Closed With Doxology

There were a number of things different about the hospital campaign. Every day's meeting was opened with prayer, and the final night was closed with the singing of the Doxology, led by Sam Lewis. There was no piano accompaniment to it, but the fervor with which the men and women sang it was evident of the feeling of gratitude in their hearts for a job well done.

Two large subscriptions were reported last night, one for $1000 from Mrs. Robert A. Wallace and one for $1000 from Thomas F. Morehead. In announcing Mr. Morehead's subscription, Mr. Rentz said: "I have the pleasure of announcing a subscription from a lifelong friend of mine, a man who stands high in the community, who has been successful but who shares his success with others. When he made this subscription he said, at a time like this when my neighbors and friends are working to remove the hospital deficit, I could not stand on the sidelines and refuse to aid. The announcement of the subscription brought a demonstration from the crowd. Congressman J. Howard Swick sent in his subscription of $50 last night and his secretary Howard C. Hunter $25.

Successful Campaign
The meeting last night closed one of the most successful money raising campaigns ever staged in this city. The result of it guarantees the continued operation of the Jameson Memorial Hospital, assures the re-establishment of its credit, clears its indebtedness and gives it a new lease on life.

After closing up the Jameson Memorial Hospital campaign, the workers present banded themselves together for another campaign, this one for $15,000 for the Mayor's Relief Committee, an account of which will be found in other columns of today's News.

Believes In Prohibition
He believes in prohibition. "It's a good thing for us," he said. "I shudder to think what would happen if we had saloons back and men could carry a bottle in their breast pockets when they drive automobiles."

As to the situation in China he believes that this is just another trouble that has hit China. "She has always had lots of trouble" said the old man, "wars and famines and pestilences. We oughtn't to get mixed up in the trouble."

The party today is being held in the home of Mr. McCormick's son, Patrick, with whom the old gentleman makes his home. At noon today a birthday dinner was served and the party this afternoon not only marks the hundredth anniversary of James McCormick's birth, but is also in honor of Miss Elizabeth McCormick, his granddaughter who has finished her training as a nurse in the New Castle hospital.

Jack Woodring, and sister, Miss Mary Woodring, of Ashtabula, spent Monday with friends in New Castle.

SPREAD GAME FOOD.

Opportunity came today for Boy Scout troops of the district to supply needed food for the bird feeding stations that different troops have erected in various wooded sections of the county. The heavy snowfall covered the woodlands and made it difficult for game to find food.

Scouts of Lawrence county have long provided food and shelter for birds and other game in the cold and snowy winters. Today was about the first chance to do so this winter.

THE HOSPITAL CAMPAIGN

THERE have been many money raising campaigns in New Castle in the past twenty years, particularly since the World War. Most of them have been successful, some because of patriotic motives, some because of a need apparent at the time, others only relatively successful and then because of strenuous last minute measures.

Looking at the entire picture over the past twenty years, it seems no exaggeration to say there has never been a campaign quite like the one conducted for the Jameson Memorial hospital, which closed so successfully Monday evening. Sixty thousand dollars were asked for and the total exceeded that figure by nearly three thousand dollars. There never was a campaign, the success of which created so much general satisfaction, nor which carried in its train such a host of attendant reasons for satisfaction.

In normal times sixty thousand dollars would not be considered such a burden to raise, but right now it is no inconsiderable amount. Few there were who really believed it could be raised in its entirety but in the light of what has occurred perhaps it may be that all of us were guilty of a lack of faith in our own abilities. The fact that it was oversubscribed is a glowing commentary upon the calibre of New Castle men and women and their ability to succeed in spite of handicaps.

The success of the Jameson Memorial hospital does more than just clear the hospital of debt, laudable as this is. It is notice to the world that New Castle is facing the present economic depression with her chin up, fighting the good fight, carrying on with a spirit that will not be licked.

More, it is a tribute to the memory of the donor of the hospital, the late David Jameson. He believed that every citizen had a responsibility to maintain the hospital according to his means, and this campaign has justified the faith of that great man. Perhaps from that Valhalla to which he has gone, he looked down Monday evening and saw that group of high minded citizens as they finished the campaign in a burst of glory.

Finally, the campaign was a very definite proof of what New Castle citizens will do when a real need is presented to them. Faced with the possibility of the hospital closing unless the fund was raised, they contributed freely, in many cases sacrificed, that they might forestall any such tragedy.

From the general chairman down to the humblest worker, every one connected with the campaign has justifiable cause to feel proud of this outstanding achievement. Not every one could give but those who could not aided the cause in no small way by the wonderful moral support given the campaign.

Out of this campaign has come a lesson that we all might remember for the future. Co-operation, efficient leadership and hard work put this one over. The same qualities will carry us through in future tasks.

THE MAN—NOT HIS CAR

According to a brief article in The Safe Driver, a publication of the National Safety Council, about 90 per cent of all motor vehicle accidents can be charged to three things: Bad judgment, carelessness and stupidity. In a recent study of over a million motor accidents, it was found that the entire share of fatal accidents attributable to defects in the car amounted to only about 11 per cent, while for non-fatal accidents the car was defective in but five per cent of the cases.

In other words, nine accidents out of 10 are the fault of the man who drives the car, and not the car itself. As Dr. Miller McClintock, of Harvard, has phrased it, the remedy is to convince man that he must live up to his car. When he reaches as high a degree of perfection in his driving as the modern automobile represents, deaths on streets and highways will be due for a 90 per cent drop.

The modern highway is often congested. Traffic moves fast. There is no time for absent-mindedness, for a single instant of distraction from the job at hand. Everyone who drives an automobile should keep in the front of his mind the trinity of destruction: Bad judgment, carelessness, stupidity.

PEASANTS AND PROGRESS

When the soviet government of Russia set out to industrialize its predominantly peasant people in five years, industrial leaders the world over shook their heads. Today the disillusioned Russian dreamers know why.

What was it Russia attempted to do? Take from farms millions of men and women, who had never seen a factory—not to mention modern machinery—and in five years make of them skilled workers in modern factories operated in accordance with mass production methods. And that in a land where only the simplest craftsmanship existed before; where most of the manufacturing was done by the household industries, the so-called Kustari.

The native craft aptitude can no doubt be trained in time for machine industry of the higher type. But the supply is not enough for the ambitious industrial program, and the education of raw peasants into mechanics and operators of complicated machines will be a long, costly job.

Russia has made progress in building power plants and factories with the assistance of foreign engineers but she has not been able to create with equal speed a class of skilled workers out of the peasant masses. Not even in one generation can a peasant nation be imbued with the spirit of craftsmanship, the mechanical sense, the feel for the machine, which other peoples have been hundreds of years in developing.

When you want to have fun get a crowd to telling their middle names.

Prosperous times are those in which people feel rich enough to take on more debt.

"Don't Expect Too Much"
"Give Everything You Have"
That's Marie Dressler

By MARSHALL MASLIN

I HEARD the other day that Marie Dressler's personal proverb is "Don't expect too much!" That's the secret, somebody said, of Marie Dressler's success in life and everybody knows that Marie is a success.

Up and down she's been for nearly half a century, and now she's on top of the world. Everybody loves her, everybody wants to see her, everybody wants to share her success—now that she's up.

But for seven years before her last success, instead of being up she was on her uppers. She was living on her nerve, living on her principal, and she saw an old lady's home staring her in the face. Then "they" put her in a picture, not expecting too much of the old trouper—and she stole the show!

Now they expect everything of Marie Dressler, and still she says to herself: "Don't expect too much of life, of people, of success." But whenever she gives an interview she makes it a good one, whenever she talks over the radio she says something that's good to hear, whenever she appears in a picture she gives everything she has.

So it seems to me that "Don't expect too much" is only half of Marie Dressler's philosophy. The whole sentence is, "Don't expect too much—but give everything you have!"

The other day I read that Marie Dressler had told her studio executives she wanted to play the part of a maid in a new picture because she was sure she knew just how that maid should be played. They told her the part was too small for her, but this idea had never occurred to Marie. Her own idea is that no part in life or on a movie set, is too small.

Once a fine piano player complained to her that he couldn't get any real engagements. She told him that if she could play as well as he could she'd play anywhere for people, in saloons or in cellar restaurants, wherever she could find a piano.

But he couldn't get her philosophy about giving everything she had, anywhere, at any time. He wasn't her kind!

A soldier who was at Camp Lewis during the war told me a story about Marie. She had lunch with the officers' mess one day and when she was leaving she found the entire regiment waiting to see her. An officer asked whether she wouldn't say a few words to the "men." "Sure I will," said Marie. "I'll recite for them." And she hitched up her skirts and recited that grand glowing piece of hers, "The Ballet Russe."

Once, just after Marie Dressler became a success again, I wrote an article about her and somehow it came to her attention. She didn't accept that praise of mine as her due. Instead, she sat down and wrote me a note in her big, sprawling, generous hand—about eight words to a page—and thanked me so richly that I walked on air for days.

Is it any wonder I'm liking Marie Dressler? Is it any wonder a great crowd of other people are so fond of Marie? She says, "Don't expect too much!" But she GIVES everything she has—and you've just GOT to love a grand person like that!

BREAKFAST GROUCHES

Do you make any effort to be good-natured at breakfast?
Or do you permit ill-feeling to hold full sway then?

Perhaps you are one of the few who does not feel cranky in the morning.

Most folks are easily irritated before breakfast and if you are not, those who associate with you in the home are fortunate.

Even if you do feel out of sorts you could control it, at least to the extent that you don't vent it enough to spoil the day for those at home.

To be antagonistic and fault-finding in the morning is largely habit.

It is an easy habit to get into and a hard one to shake off.

How foolish to encourage such a state of mind.

Indulging it, you reach your place of business in a feverish mood.

Your work is affected by it and days that might be happy otherwise are in a turmoil for all with whom you come in contact.

Everything displeases you and that spirit gets you in trouble.

How much better is the condition you left at home when you are good-natured.

All the members of your family for the days are brighter and more pleasant and the work goes easier when you leave with a smile and a cheery word in the morning.

America's traditional sympathy for the under-dog now manifests itself in a curious way. Those unhurt by the depression adopt the cause and the spirit of the jobless, and thus multiply and perpetuate the suffering that prompts their sympathy.

I know salaried men and wage earners who are in better circumstances today than they were two years ago. Their incomes have not been reduced and less money is required to buy the things they need. Yet they wear long faces and speak in the doleful tone of men overcome by disaster. They have taken up the cry of the pack.

As cattle on the plains stampede and men in a crowded theatre surrender to panic when one of their number is overcome by fear, so these have absorbed the despair of less fortunate men and now think themselves engulfed in the ruin.

It is a perfect example of crowd hypnotism. Much talk of poverty has made them feel poor, and the feeling of poverty prompts them to deny themselves and hoard the money on which good times depend. By sharing the despair of the jobless man, they prolong his search for a job.

Those whose need is real are resentful when told that depression is psychological. Psychology seems a poor explanation of hunger. It could not be otherwise in a land burdened with a surplus of everything but confidence.

As a child that has fallen and bruised its head will get to its feet without a whimper if no sympathy is offered, but will howl in mingled fright and self pity when foolish parental love files noisily to the rescue, so the great majority of our people would go their untroubled way free of hurt or anxiety if they neither heard nor read any reference to hard times.

If there are six million idle, there are thirty-five million at work. If labor's wage has been reduced ten billion dollars, it is still a fabulous thirty-five billion.

Public Studies Campaigns Of Democratic Candidates

Governor Roosevelt's Action In North Dakota Accepted As Opening Of Real Work Of Preparation For National Convention

Estimates of the chances of candidates for the Democratic nomination for President are made by the public as support in North Dakota of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York gives the signal for a wide study of the various contenders. The standing of Governor Roosevelt is a subject of much favorable comment, while former Governor Smith of New York, Governor Ritchie of Maryland, Newton D. Baker of Ohio, Speaker Garner of Texas, and former Governor Byrd of Virginia are recognized, with Governor Murray of Oklahoma as a vigorous contender.

"Who will dare to try to be very definite except those who work it to whoop it up for this, that or the other candidate?" asks the LYNCHBURG NEWS (Dem.), while the SPOKANE SPOKESMAN-REVIEW (Ind. Rep.) thinks the Democratic convention "will stage a double conflict—of personalities and principles," and adds: "The conflict of personalities brings Governor Roosevelt and ex-Governor Smith conspicuously on the stage. In expectation and hope that the deadlock will follow and Roosevelt be beaten, half a dozen candidates, trying to conceal their eagerness and disavowing their ambitions, are lurking in the wings."

"Obviously, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt is the one man above all others who should be nominated," declares the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION (Dem.) and the OKLAHOMA CITY OKLAHOMAN (Ind.), commenting on "unanimous indorsement of Roosevelt by the Democratic State Convention of North Dakota," contends that "the victory achieved there by the Roosevelt forces will very naturally lend strength to the Roosevelt candidacy elsewhere." The BARTFORD TIMES (Ind. Dem.) believes that following "the announcement of Governor Roosevelt's formal entrance into the race," there should be "an open drive for delegates pledged to him, and his every word and act will be scrutinized for any significance they may have as bearing on the presidency."

"We greet Governor Roosevelt's candidacy as an opportunity to place in the White House a representative, not of special interests, but of the American people," declares the ASBURY PARK EVENING PRESS (Ind. Dem.) while the ROCHESTER TIMES-UNION (Ind.) is observing that he "has more delegates in sight than any other candidate," concludes that "if this total should amount to a majority when the convention opens in Chicago, it is quite likely, though not certain, that he will go on to the two-thirds vote and the nomination."

The SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.) offers the estimate: "Already it is said that tentative support of states with more than a majority of the delegates in the convention has been tendered Mr. Roosevelt. On the other hand, it is pointed out that with a two-thirds vote required for nomination a combination of support of other candidates will prevent his being nominated."

The HOUSTON POST-DISPATCH (Ind. Dem.) endorses Speaker Garner as one who "has high credentials for leadership and is really the only important Democratic figure in the South and West," while the OSHKOSH DAILY NORTHWESTERN (Rep.) appraises him as "a man of attractive personality who has many friends in Congress."

"Newton D. Baker," states the ROANOKE TIMES (Dem.), "would be exceedingly difficult to eliminate, to defeat him put forward by the Democratic party as its candidate for President. The times call for courage, frankness and ability in those who occupy high offices of trust and responsibility, and Mr. Baker possesses all three qualities in abundant measure."

With a tribute to "the winning personality and sound grasp of public questions" possessed by former Governor Byrd, the ROANOKE WORLD-NEWS (Dem.) says: "The invitation extended to him to address a joint session of the Kentucky Legislature at some future date constitutes significant recognition of the Virginia's status as a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination, an honor for which he has been put forward by official action of the General Assembly of Virginia."

While some view the position of former Governor Smith of New York as a mystery, the MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) advises: "If he really wants Governor Roosevelt nominated, Mr. Smith will have to say so in plain language, soon. If he does not say so, the Democrats of the Nation must conclude that he prefers another nomination. The draft Smith promoters will have license to assume that their efforts are not running counter to their favorite's wishes."

Giving attention to the prices being received by public men for their literary contributions, the SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICAL (Ind. Rep.) concludes: "Some of the general ex-Governor's words are priceless. What, for instance, would not any one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination pay for a word of indorsement from Al?"

"Roosevelt is far in the lead," according to the CHARLESTON (S. C.) EVENING POST (Dem.), "but he is not making the progress toward the necessary two-thirds vote of the convention which he made in the early stages of his acclamation. That Smith can stop him is reasonably certain. That he will, in the end, break his former close associate and friend is not yet certain. Al Smith is an able politician and more. He ought to be able to see that the Presidency will never be his and perhaps he does. But it is not easy for any man who has looked close range at the glittering prize to take his eyes from it, and he may think that he could win on a second trial. If he has that belief he will make a tremendous fight in the convention, but he will fail in the end, leaving some deep wounds." "Smith's power within the party is so great that his opposition would easily upset the New Yorker's chances," avers the YOUNGSTOWN VINDICATOR (Ind. Dem.), while the PROVIDENCE JOURNAL (Ind.) concludes: "It is too soon to predict how New England will line up at Chicago, but 'Al's' enthusiastic friends in this corner of the country evidently do not propose to let Governor Roosevelt walk off unopposed with the nomination under his arm."

"Smith's hope of getting elected," states the DALLAS JOURNAL (Ind. Dem.), "would depend upon other States than those of the South, which is less than it used to be. That is true, if regrettable. Smith might be able to win the Presidency without the support of the South. His personality still appeals and he still has a way that wins and holds followers."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Quarreling Of Children Worries Her

"Think Nothing" Of Family Fights, Dr. Myers Tells Mother

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D., Head Division Parental Education, Cleveland College, Western Reserve University.

"Dear Dr. Myers: Will you please send me help in dealing with children's fighting. I have four children who quarrel continually. There are two boys, 11 and 6, and two girls, 10 and 8. The girls fight really more often than the boys and seem to dislike each other very much at times.

"I would like to have them grow up good pals and finding interests in each other. Some sisters seem to have such good times together, while my two girls do not."

Answer: About the only sure painless cure for fighting is chloroform. Expect these children to fight and quarrel, and when they do let them alone as long as they do not endanger one another physically or disturb the neighbors. When their controversy exceeds what you can bear, merely separate them for several hours by the clock, without trying to find out who started the trouble. The more you inquire and try to fix the blame the more you fit them for fighting and quarreling in the future.

A great many letters come to me inquiring about the "Parent Education" letters which I wrote a few years ago for the U. S. Bureau of Education. The U. S. Bureau, after distributing a few hundred thousand of them, ceased to do so for want of funds. But since they are public property anyone may reprint them (but not sell them above cost).

A mimeographed copy of the set of the first 12 letters under the general title, "Helping Our Children at School," may be had by sending 15 cents to Cleveland College, Cleveland, O., to cover cost of mimeographing and postage. There is another set of 12 letters to parents of pre-school children, which I wrote for the Bureau, but are no longer distributed. Anyone wishing to reproduce these will find them running in the Houston P. T. A. Messenger, Houston, Tex., to which I gave the only set I had left. Its ten issues are, I think, available for only 50 cents. In a number of cities one or both sets of letters have been used as material for study groups, generally supplemented by this column.

Individuals and groups interested in my books and pamphlets should know that the best of all I have written naturally appears, though in different language, in this daily column, "The Parent Problem." Those desiring to have such material on hand and to save money could do so by making a scrapbook of these articles. Some who are doing so have written me that they have divided up their scrapbook into sections such as "The Pre-school Child," "The Child from Six to Twelve," "The Adolescent," "Family Relations," "School Problems," etc.

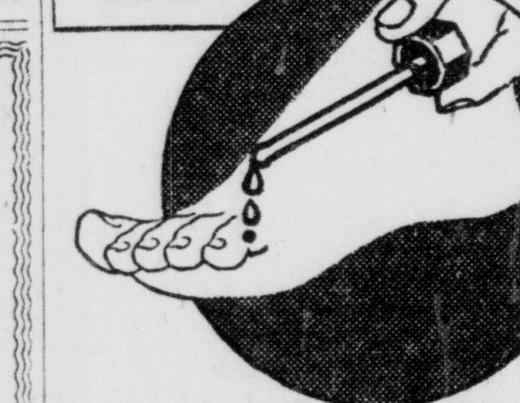

From letters, I have learned that many grandparents have been clipping this column and sending it to their daughters who live in places where it is not available.

Inhalation Instructions For a Cold

Dr. Clendening Tells Of Medicated Steam For Relief

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Many of the effective remedies for colds can be administered much more effectively than they usually are.

There are some little points in arrangement or technique which make all the difference in the world in the effectiveness of the remedy, and especially in the comfort which the patient experiences in taking the remedy. For it is a good rule in the practice of medicine that if a treatment is more irksome than the disease the patient will not continue it.

On that basis let us discuss steam or medicated inhalations. There is no question of their value in relieving the tightness of the chest, and of "loosening" secretions and giving a general soothing effect.

Yet, it is probable that when a steam inhalation is thought of, the first reaction of the household doctor is that it is too much trouble; that you have to send to the drug store for this and that, for a lamp and little kettle, etc. You do not have to do any such thing. The best one can be fixed at home in five minutes.

And as for drugs, the steam itself is often quite as grateful as the drugs.

One way is to boil water in a pan, throw a teaspoonful of the aromatic drug on the water, and have the patient place the face over the surface of the water, covering the head and the pan with a towel. This, however, results in irritation to the skin and the eyes from the fumes of the drug.

A croup kettle with a paper cone introducing the fumes close to the patient's nose and mouth is frequently employed. It works for children, but suffers from the same objection as the first method.

The most elegant method, and really the simplest, is that suggested by a well-known physician of Boston. An enamel pitcher is used to boil the water in, the aromatic drug is thrown on the surface of the water as in other methods, then the top of the pitcher is covered with a towel and a large rubber tube is thrust under the towel. The patient takes the other end of the tube in the mouth and breathes in the fumes. This saves any irritation of the skin.

The solution is kept hot longer by leaving the towel over the opening in the pitcher. The tube should be of rubber instead of glass, because the rubber does not get hot enough to burn the lips; it should be of large caliber. Since electric heaters have become so common in households the pitcher can be set on one of these and the water kept steaming indefinitely.

Medicines used for inhalation are: Compound tincture of benzoin, oil of turpentine, oil of eucalyptus, oil of pine needles, menthol and camphor.

A combination of these oils made up as follows is excellent: Menthol camphor—each four drachms (these rubbed together in a mortar will form a liquid). Add oil of pine needles, oil of turpentine, oil of eucalyptus—each one ounce.

Application of aromatic liniments to the chest, such as linimentum ammoniac (U. S. X.) or Hartshorn's liniment, act in the same way as an inhalant, the fumes rising and being breathed in by the patient.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
A reader asks: "What is dementia precox caused from? What are the symptoms and how treated?"

Answer: Dementia precox is an acquired emotional derangement occurring in people about the age of adolescence. It is not generally considered to be necessarily a hereditary type of mental trouble. The symptoms are of various kinds. One type consists in indifference to external surroundings and events, and advice from parents or teachers. Another type is characterized by extreme emotional storms, alternating with periods of depression. The treatment is almost entirely by psychological methods and in many cases the outlook is the most favorable of any class of true insanity.

Dorothy Mackaill's great-great something-or-other was Bobbie Burns, the famous Scotch poet, and she's as popular in Hollywood as golf—"nother Scotch import. Read what Macaulay, the great English Historian, Essayist and Statesman, once said:

"Our rulers will best promote the improvement of the nation by strictly confining themselves to their own legitimate duties, by leaving course, commodities their fair price, industry and intelligence their natural reward, idleness and folly their natural punishment, by maintaining peace, by defending property and by observing strict economy in every department of the state. Let the Government do this—the people will assuredly do the rest."

Yet the Congress of the United States will continue to spend money for very conceivable purpose without any idea but what the taxpayer will pay the bill.

It is a great opportunity for the I. W. W.'s.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results, and the use has spread. Excess fat has been disappearing fast in those years, as everybody knows. It will go faster when more people recognize this right way to reduce.

Go try Marmola. A book in the box gives the formula, and tells why it does what it does. Cease the methods which have failed you. Combat the cause. Do what multitudes are doing with results you see. Go start today.

When FAT Goes Back Comes Vim

The World Way

The right way for treating obesity is now employed by doctors the world over. It is based on a new discovery—a gland cause.

Modern science finds that a great cause of excess fat lies in a scanty gland secretion. Then food which should be turned to energy simply piles up fat. Thus people grow both fat and lazy through the same gland cause.

Doctors everywhere now feed that lacking factor. They know that abnormal exercise and diet can never bring fat down, and vim back, while that lack exists.

Elliot Refutes Dope Statement

Official Executioner Says He Has Never Killed Man Who Was 'Doped'

ACCUSES CHARGES OF NEWSPAPERMAN

(International News Service) ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, Bellefonte, Pa., Feb. 2.—Robert J. Elliot, hollow eyed executioner who Monday morning sent Joseph Kosh, of Scranton, to his death in the electric chair, in a statement to newspapermen declared he was convinced no doctored killer had ever been drugged before execution.

Elliot, executioner for five states, denied reports that Francis "Two-gun" Crowley, New York gangster electrocuted at Sing Sing, had been "doped" he said.

"I don't believe there has ever been a man who went to the chair doped."

Denies Doping

"The best basis in the world for such a statement is religion and observation."

The executioner, whose victims included Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray, Irene Schroeder, the blonde gun girl and her companion, Glenn Dague, declared various religious beliefs do not permit a man to go to his death unless he is in a normal state of mind. He said prison officials always abide by these religious decrees.

Deputy Warden W. J. McFarland, head of the Rockview penitentiary declared he was certain no man had ever been electrocuted in Pennsylvania while under the influence of drugs. He said a number of doctored men had made requests for liquor but had been refused.

Veterans Bureau

Adopts Device To Save Much Labor

Require Duplicates To All Letters, Which Are Stamped And Returned

Countless hours of labor are being saved by the U. S. veterans administration as the result of a new method of answering communications recently adopted.

Heretofore, when letters were sent to the Veterans bureau at Pittsburgh in regard to claims, etc., the bureau has been sending an answer to each letter.

Now, a duplicate is asked of every letter mailed to the bureau by the service organizations acting in behalf of veterans. When the letter is received at the bureau, the duplicate is stamped with the date of its arrival, and is mailed back to the sender, thus acknowledging receipt.

Hundreds of hours time in dictating letters and writing them is now being saved by the bureau, and claims can be expedited more quickly, it is stated.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membrane and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes into the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Many Machines Skid Into Ditch On Hillside This Morning

Many New Castle motorists, unprepared for the advent of snow, came to grief this morning when they attempted to ascend and descend the slippery hills.

At the end of the hill on Highland avenue below the Cathedral, one of Uncle Sam's mail trucks got stalled when the driver tried to change gears and could not secure traction for the wheels. Other machines, following lost their momentum and stalled. In a short time, the road was blocked with stalled machines and street cars. High school students on their way to school, had to walk the rest of the distance up the hill.

Central Church Crowded Monday

Plea Is Made For Universal Peace By Pastor Evangelist Charles Warren Johnstone

Central Christian church, Long and Pennsylvania avenues, was crowded last night by an immense throng of interested people, who came to hear the plea of Charles Warren Johnstone, pastor evangelist, for universal peace. Every bit of available space in the church was crowded with a throng of between seven and eight hundred persons.

The address of the evening was entitled "Mars or Christ?" and was based on the actual military experience of the speaker during the World War, when he served in both the Canadian and American forces.

Adding to the interest of the occasion was the singing of Arthur Hulbert of Pittsburgh, former member of the church and who served overseas during the World War with the First Division. Little Betty Jane Cope also gave a reading entitled, "The Soldiers Cradle Song," which appealed most forcibly to the audience.

This evening, Rev. Johnstone will speak on the subject of "The Laughing Fool." There will be special music by the chorus directed by David Lewis, while Mrs. Alzada Johnstone will also assist in the service.

January Days Eleven Degrees Above Normal

Tremendous Excess Of Temperature Is Piled Up During Month

Rainfall Is Heaviest Recorded In Number Of Years, Records Show

January's weather for 1932 will go down into history as the most unusual ever recorded here, being abnormal in a great many respects. Not only were temperatures the highest ever noted here, but there was more rainfall, and less snowfall, than during any other January since records have been compiled at the U. S. Weather Observation station here.

There was an excess of 341 degrees in temperature, or an average of 11 degrees per day, exceeding the excess recorded during October last year by two degrees per day.

The mean maximum temperature for the month was 47.1 degrees, the mean minimum, 30.9 degrees, and the mean average for the month, 39 degrees. Normally, the mean average temperature for January is 28 degrees, so it will be shown that the excess per day was 11 degrees above the normal.

Highest Temperature.
The highest temperature recorded was 72 degrees on January 15, which was the highest ever noted during January at the local station, and one of the highest temperatures which has ever occurred here during January. The lowest temperature was 15 degrees on January 31. The greatest daily range in temperature was 37 degrees on January 15.

The total precipitation during the month was 6.22 inches, or 3.31 inches more than the normal amount for January. The greatest rainfall recorded in 24 hours was 95 inches on January 1. There was just a trace of snow noticed on January 19, not enough to record. There probably has never been another January when as little snow fell.

The least amount recorded during any previous January since 1914, when the government first started keeping records here was an half inch, recorded in January of 1921. In January of 1916, there was 1.2 inches of snow, while the most ever recorded during this seventeen year period was 18.2 inches in 1926. The normal snowfall is approximately 10 inches for January.

Last year, there was but 1.16 inches of rainfall, or 1.75 inches below the normal amount of 2.91 inches for January. The temperature last year was an excess of 1.8 degrees of an excess per day last year, when the maximum temperature recorded was but 59 and the minimum was 5.

In 1931, the Shenango river's high stage was 6.1 feet, while this year it reached a stage of 10.5 feet.

There were 18 days last month on which was 0.1 inches or more of rainfall. Days clear were seven, partly cloudy, eight; and cloudy, 16.

Former Deputy Is Held For Death Of Miner In Trouble

John J. Yoder, Former Deputy Sheriff, Accused By Son Of Slain Miner

YOUNGSTER SURE OF MAN WHO FIRED

(International News Service)
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—John J. Yoder, former deputy sheriff employed by the Pittsburgh Coal company, today was accused of firing the shot that killed Mike Pilopovich at Arnold City during the mine riot last June 23.

Yoder, eighth man lodged in the Fayette county jail as District Attorney Wade Newell vigorously reopened the case, was named by Pilopovich's 10-year old son, Fred, who stood by his father as he was shot down.

Killed By Cross-fire
The eight men under arrest had previously been absolved of Pilopovich's killing following a coroner's inquest. Pilopovich, who ran to the porch of his house at the sound of shots, was killed in a cross-fire between deputy sheriffs and rioting strikers.

The others under arrest are Ernest Barnes, former superintendent of the Pittsburgh Coal company mine; James Buttermore, Coal and Iron policeman; Jess Sisley, Donald Roston, Tend Hunt, Wesley Fisher and Leroy Ingram, deputy sheriffs. Authorities today were still searching for Parker Claybaugh, another deputy.

Accused By Boy
Young Pilopovich, questioned about the shooting, declared: "I know who shot my pap—it was Yoder. I was standing in the yard when pap came running out on the porch."

"Barnes and the deputies had stopped their cars just across the road and, when pap came out, Barnes yelled, 'shoot him.' Yoder pointed his gun at us and fired. 'My pap fell down beside me and when I ran to him, he said, 'Oh, my God,' and then he died."

Business Women Are Planning To Create More Jobs

"Hour A Week" Plan Presented; Pittsburgh Man Is Chief Speaker

"Creat New Jobs" was the keynote of last night's meeting of the Business and Professional Women of New Castle, and the plan suggested from national club headquarters in New York City, of asking each member to furnish an unemployed woman with one hour's work each week was unanimously agreed upon.

The meeting took place after the serving of dinner in the green room of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Sara McCune, president, presented the suggestion to the club, explaining that the work furnished must be something entirely extra from the regular chores the members are in the habit of having performed for them. The club decided to co-operate in the project with the friendly service bureau of the Y. W. C. A. The friendly service bureau will furnish the required workers. The club will provide the work. It is a worthy project and should do much to alleviate unemployment among women.

Another outstanding part of Monday evening's program was an address by H. A. Woldkoenig of Pittsburgh, who has spent the past 16 years in public charity work over the state of Pennsylvania. Mr. Woldkoenig had kindly consented to come to New Castle for the express purpose of addressing the Business Women's Club.

Mr. Woldkoenig explained that in order to have a better understanding of the local conditions he had been in this city all day and so did not come to the club entirely as a stranger. He told of mistakes and advantages of various methods of raising and distributing funds for needy families, using as examples the methods used in Reading, Pittsburgh, Sharon, Erie, Titusville, Washington and New Castle.

Several beautiful violin solos were rendered earlier in the evening by Silvio Crici, a student of Mahoning school, who by his extraordinary ability has attracted great notice in New Castle. Miss Mary Long accompanied at the piano. The speaker and musicians were presented by the social service committee, of which Miss Helen Wilson is chairman.

Miss Emma B. Moore, executive secretary of the International Institute and friendly service bureau of the Y. W. C. A., was a special guest of the occasion. Tables were attractively decorated with placards and favors in keeping with the season during which the great presidents, Washington and Lincoln, were born. The committee in charge had placed typed lists of New Castle's welfare organization and executives in charge, at each place.

Snappy news briefs on what is going on in state and national government affairs were given by Miss Mary Scherger in a plain and efficient manner.

Bright colors are predicted for spring millinery.

Plan Operation On MacDonald's Eye In London

slight and progressive diminution of vision in his left eye," the bulletin stated.

"We are of the opinion an immediate operation is necessary to relieve the present condition and check the cause of the trouble. His general health is quite satisfactory."

The premier was attending the opening session of the House of Commons today and intends to preside at tomorrow's cabinet session. Then he will go to a nursing home.

Because of the operation he will be unable to attend the disarmament conference at Geneva this week-end, but he intends to go there as soon as he recovers, probably in two or three weeks.

caused the death of Orange Barrett, 77, according to a report to the Coroner's office today.

Demand Congress Boost America's Air-Naval Corps

United States Needs More Protection On Ocean And In Air

Japanese Sino Conflict Has Taught Lesson, Real Peril Lies In Orient

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Opening of the Geneva disarmament conference, at a time when the far east is torn by the Sino-Japanese embroilment, was met today by a demand in congress for increasing both America's aerial and naval defense.

A deeply concerned congress was deemed favorable to preparedness measures, insuring the United States an adequate defense force in the air and a navy second to none. The failure of international treaties to prevent the Sino-Japanese outbreak served to consolidate support for the campaign to increase the nation's military defenses.

Believed Doomed.
Senatorial circles regarded the conference as doomed to failure. There was a growing sentiment too toward rejecting any compact which might further slash America's first lines of defense—the navy or air forces—regardless of concessions made by other nations. This sentiment was founded on a belief that concessions might come from European nations but the danger to American security might come from the orient.

"I do not see how the Geneva conference can do anything," observed Senator Hale (R) of Maine, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee.

Better Air Service.
The plea for strengthening the nation's air services came from Senator Bingham (R) of Connecticut, a wartime aviator. He revealed that the United States is fourth among the world's air powers in a military sense.

Bingham said he was working on a bill to "greatly increase the use of municipal airports and to provide training for aviation reserves."

Young Methodists Hold Institute

Auspicious Opening Monday Evening In Epworth Methodist Church For Epworth League

Miss Isabel Shaw of the Mahoningtown Methodist church acted as registrar Monday evening at the opening session of the mid-year institute held for the Epworth League of the New Castle sub-district of the Methodist churches and there were 75 young people enrolled for the classes.

Miss Helen Emerick of the Mahoning church led the devotional opening, after which Dr. S. L. Maxwell, pastor of the Epworth church and dean of the institute, addressed the young people, telling of the purpose of the institute, what they expect to accomplish. He arranged the various classes and divided the young people into groups after which the study period was held, with the Bible class taught by Rev. E. O. McNulty, pastor of the New Wilmington.

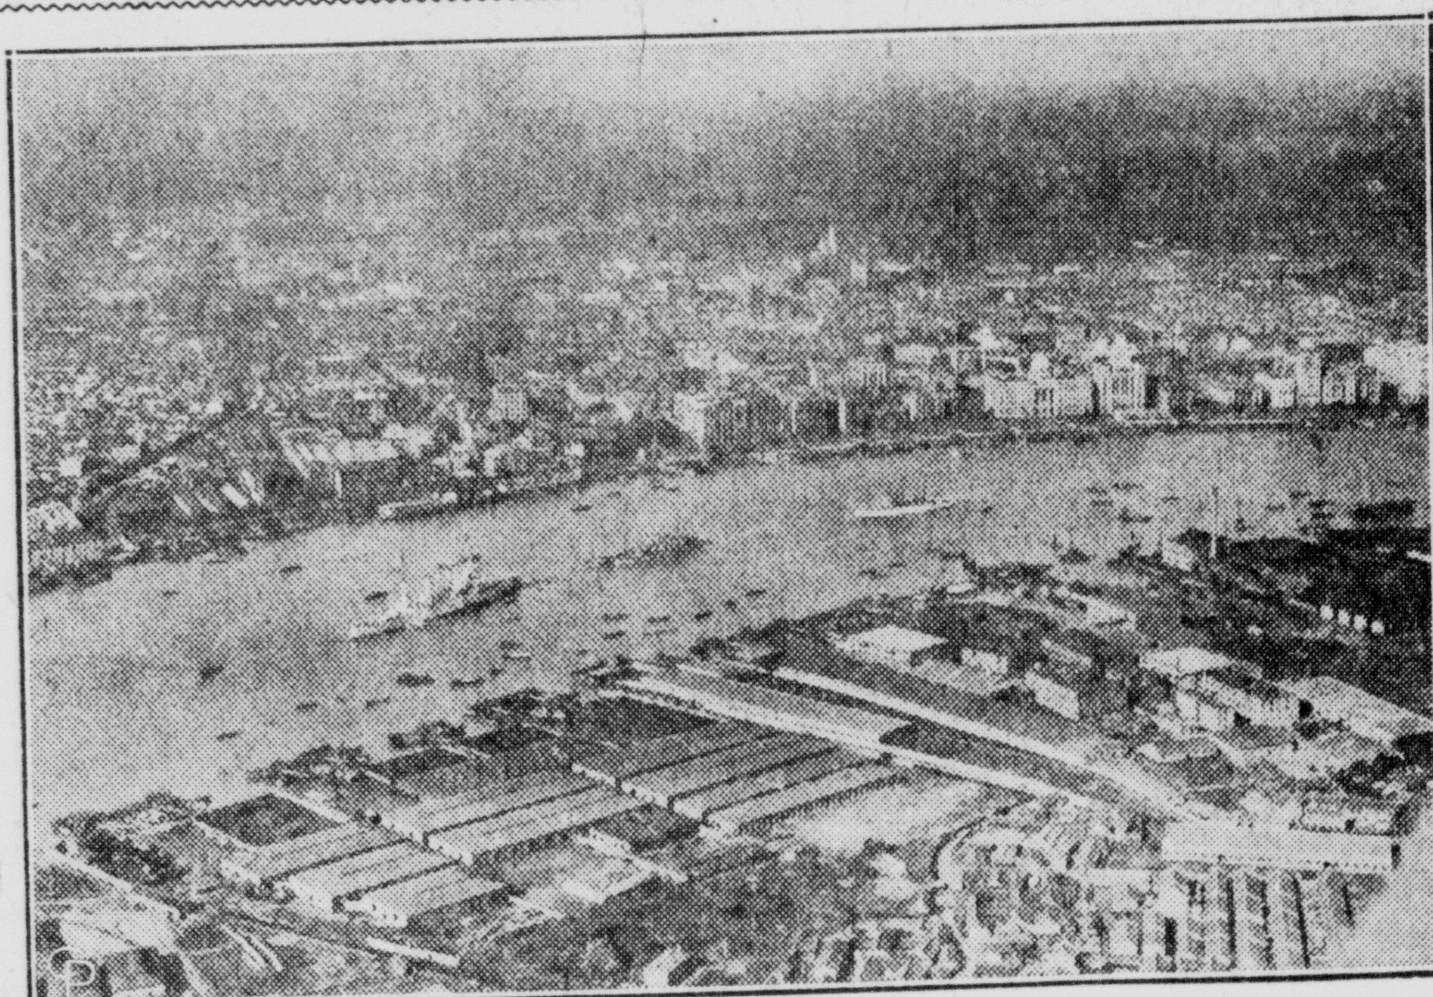

After a period of class work, Miss Ruth Buchanan took charge of the recreation and the young folks became acquainted with each other. A closing devotional ceremony brought the session to a close, and at 7 o'clock this evening the second session will begin, and the closing session will be held Thursday evening, beginning with a tureen dinner at 6 o'clock.

Allege Two Uniontown Men Were Impersonating Officers And Extorted Money

(International News Service)
BUFFALO, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Glenn Allum and Tony Bell, both of Uniontown, Pa., languished in the Erie county penitentiary today awaiting action of the January federal grand jury, now sitting at Elmira.

Unable to raise $10,000 bail, they face indictments on charges of impersonating federal dry agents and extorting money from east side saloonkeepers.

The grand jury will not decide the case until Friday.

Bell, former Fayette county detective, was acquitted in a sensational court trial of the murder of Jack Donohoe, alleged racketeer. Allum, indicted for the same murder, was never tried. According to federal agents, the car which Allum drove bore license plates issued to his wife, Mrs. Anna Allum of Washington, Pa.

Agents said Allum had impersonated federal officers in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York and had arranged several "shake-down" attempts.

Vare Will Seek Place In State Convention List

Philadelphia Politician To Ask For Election As Delegate At Large

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 2.—William S. Vare, veteran Republican political leader and nominal head of the Philadelphia delegation, will be a candidate for delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention, it was certain today.

Vare emphasized that he will go to the Republican meeting with an "open mind". Four years ago he forced the Pennsylvania delegation to join him in supporting the candidacy of President Hoover.

He denied he had reached a decision on the United States senator race in Pennsylvania and refused to confirm reports that he would support the candidacy of Senator James J. Davis.

Vare's coolness towards the Hoover re-election boom was believed by his friends to be the result of his consistent failure to secure various federal appointments in this district.

The food is well cooked by W. B. Hassell of Sharon. The meals are prepared under the eye of Dr. Dickey. He eats the same food as the men, sitting at the same table with them.

These camps are the result of a plan involved by Gov. Pinchot to alleviate unemployment. Only through proper welfare channels can one secure work at the camp. Dr. Dickey is being called the father of the camp, because of his kindness and eye for the welfare and health of the men at the camp. Dr. Knapp has also made many friends through the interest he takes in the inspection of the noon day meal in the field. Every man can take the typhoid immunization if he desires, but it is not compulsory and is free from any charge. Frank Henderson of Westmoreland county has taken over Mr. Potter's duties. Henderson is very kind and gets results. He is a rugged figure of the open air type. All the men at the camp are looking much better than when they arrived. The men have been entertained by the singing of Mr. Morgan. R. C. Ferris is the engineer in charge of actual work of cleaning the land for the Pymatuning project. Ferris has made a wonderful mark for the other employees to shoot at. After the third week of operations there have been only two minor accidents, no lost time accidents. There are 250 men here at present. Ferris says that it will take between six months and four years to clear all the brush from the swamp. Ferris stated that there would be three and possibly four of these camps established. No. 2 camp will be opened February 3 at Westford, Pa. There will be about 200 men per camp. Capt. W. S. Houghton in charge of Camp No. 1 is liked by all in the

Head-Hunters Plentiful In Philippine Islands But You Get Used To 'Em

Cynthia Davis, Daughter Of Retiring Governor, Gives Her Impressions Of Far Away Possession

By YANNER ALEXANDER
Central Press Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 2.—Head-hunters, mosquitoes and visiting admirals are no longer terrifying to 20-year-old Cynthia Davis, daughter of Dwight Davis, who recently resigned as governor general of the Philippines.

She is back home now after serving as official hostess to her father, Mrs. Davis has been living in Europe in poor health.

As chatelains of historic Malacanan palace for the last year and a half, she says she grew accustomed to many things that daunted her at first.

Her First Head Hunter.
I was a little shocked at the first head hunter I saw," she admitted. "He had his body covered with little crosses, one for each man he had killed. But we saw many of them later and soon they didn't seem so extraordinary."

"The climate of the islands was really delightful and the days passed not much differently than in America. I usually spent the morning directing the boys about the house and it was generally so not by noon we rested until evening. A little tennis, dinner and a dance somewhere completed the day."

"Distinguished visitors to Manila and their entertainment were a trial to the young 'governor's lady' in the beginning. 'The foreign fleets were always coming in,' she said, 'and the admirals would come to the palace to pay their respects. All I can say about the various visits of United States senators and cabinet officers is that such times were hectic.'

Efficient Help.
Of the many problems confronting her, Miss Davis believes that the servant question was easiest. "The Filipino boys are courteous and quick," she declared. "Many of them have served under previous governors and handle the routine of the work in the palace very well."

"Of course, they have their own way of doing things. I found it strange the way they polish the floors. Instead of an electric brush or ordinary mop, the boys put mats on their feet and slide on the floor."

ELASTICITY she ruined the fit

STOCKINGS that wrinkle and bag are so unsightly! Do you know what causes this loss of beauty, and how to prevent it?

New stockings are elastic. Knitted with silk threads that stretch and then spring back again. But when this precious elasticity is destroyed, stockings wrinkle and sag. Seams are crooked. Threads break instead of giving under strain, starting ruinous runs!

That is why Lux has been made especially to preserve elasticity. It offers you a sure way to make your stockings keep their fit, and make even the sheerest ones really WEAR.

* The Lux Way to make stockings FIT and WEAR

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity of the silk. With Lux there's no rubbing.

Don't use too-warm water—this fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens silk threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali.

Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux makes plenty of suds for each pair of stockings.
2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Beauty Shops advise Lux in the dishpan to keep hands soft and white. It gives you beauty care—for only 1¢ a day!

"Major" Hamilton, E. & A. Airbrake Expert, Retires From Pennsy Service Monday

After over 41 years of service in the Pennsylvania railroad's engine service department in the New Castle district, Robert Warden Hamilton, West Madison avenue, for 22 years an assistant road foreman of engines, retired to the road's Honor Roll Monday. He took his first Pennsy job on July 17, 1891.

"Major," that was the name Hamilton always got from railroaders, commenced work as a fireman, was promoted to an engine man's post on April 18, 1898 and ever since April 1, 1910 has been an assistant road foreman.

His Work Retold
In the early '90s it was the practice for each engine man to have a regular fireman and also a regular engine. He first fired for J. P. (Goaty) Robinson, later R. F. of Engines, and the engine was No. 401. "Major" says it is hard to make people believe how small the engines of those days were: says a man could stand on the running-board on one side and reach across the boiler and wipe down almost to the opposite running-board. He later fired for "Bing" Large on the 425 between Ashtabula Harbor and old Lawrence Junction. Everything was hand brakes those days, a full train was 22 cars, either loaded or empty. Leaving the Harbor at 7:15 p. m. they would make the run to Lawrence Junction and return 160 miles in time for breakfast. Has known the train to come out in as many as 17 sections. Some business on the old P. Y. & A. those days. When the reason was on, the game was to keep out of the way of the man behind and yet not bump into the man ahead. At places on the upper end of the P. Y. & A. at times as many as 5 trains, all moving, would be in sight at the same time. There was no block system.

A stunt they pulled to save time

When the air brakes came into use, "Major" was bound he was going to learn all about them. By this time he was firing for Alva Westcott in New Castle Yard. Their job did not work Sundays, so he slipped down to their engine, pulled down the back curtain so no person could see him. "Goaty" would have fired him if he caught him and took apart the air brake apparatus in the cab, and by laying a piece of white paper on the plane surface of a part, and rubbing his hands over it the dirt marked the size, shape and relative position of the different parts, so he was able to construct patterns and trace the course of the air in the different positions of the control valves.

Air Brake Expert
He is a natural mechanic and it wasn't long before his knowledge became known and he was called on by the different engineers to adjust the braking apparatus on their engines. Later he became an expert on air. Whenever the "Vesting House" people came out with something new, Road Foreman of Engines Tom Bailey sent him to the plant to learn all about it, so as to enable him to teach other men, in which he was apt. Whenever there was an argument among the engineers on the action or manipulation of air brakes, and they could come to no positive conclusions, it always ended "We'll ask 'Major'."

Mr. Hamilton has well earned his place on the Honor Roll. With Mrs. Hamilton they have raised a family of eight, four boys and four girls, and most have been given a college education. They are all married and when that family hold a reunion, or take a vacation together at Klinger Lake, Mich., it means something, instead of taking quarters in a hotel. They hire at least two of the larger cottages. "Major" says there is no winter to dodge this year, so will stay in New Castle, but in the Spring will probably trade in the old Willys, and he and Mrs. Hamilton will go places and see things.

When the air brakes came into use, "Major" was bound he was going to learn all about them. By this time he was firing for Alva Westcott in New Castle Yard. Their job did not work Sundays, so he slipped down to their engine, pulled down the back curtain so no person could see him. "Goaty" would have fired him if he caught him and took apart the air brake apparatus in the cab, and by laying a piece of white paper on the plane surface of a part, and rubbing his hands over it the dirt marked the size, shape and relative position of the different parts, so he was able to construct patterns and trace the course of the air in the different positions of the control valves.

He is a natural mechanic and it wasn't long before his knowledge became known and he was called on by the different engineers to adjust the braking apparatus on their engines. Later he became an expert on air. Whenever the "Vesting House" people came out with something new, Road Foreman of Engines Tom Bailey sent him to the plant to learn all about it, so as to enable him to teach other men, in which he was apt. Whenever there was an argument among the engineers on the action or manipulation of air brakes, and they could come to no positive conclusions, it always ended "We'll ask 'Major'."

"All right, Johnny. Just one more question and that'll be the last today. Remember—one more! You'd better make it a good one, to keep you satisfied for the rest of the trip."

Johnny thought briefly and asked: "Tell me about the income tax, ma."

Mrs. William Cosel Tells Of Conference

Guest day was observed by the members of the Woman's club Monday afternoon when they met in the Highland church for the regular semi-monthly meeting.

After the opening by Mrs. A. B. Street, president, Mrs. Scott Duff read a paper for peace and introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. William Cosel, who was chosen from the club members to go to the Lord Cecil conference of laymen on disarmament in Paris in November.

Mrs. Cosel, in speaking of her trip, said the conference was one to gain the expression of the common people of the nations in regard to disarmament, so the word could be passed on to the Geneva conference, which is now convening. The success of the present conference will diminish the fear of the nations against security, dispel the black clouds of war and raise the confidence of the nations in each other.

While the failure of this conference will mean a lowering of the war clouds, more preparation for war, and finally another world war with its terrors and destruction.

Lord Cecil called this conference of the laity in Paris for the reason that France is considered the hotbed of militarism, and it was his wish to bring the matter before the French people and gain the wishes of the people of the nations. "If the world does not disarm, the world will perish," said Lord Cecil.

"To this auspicious meeting, I traveled at your bidding," said Mrs. Cosel, as she addressed the meeting.

Conference Discussions.
On the ship Europe as it sailed the seas, other representatives from America were aboard and among them was Ambassador Alanson Houghton of Corning, N. Y., who was most delighted and most stimulated when he heard the part the Woman's club of New Castle was taking in this undertaking, "the pilgrimage of peace," as the speaker called it.

On arriving in Paris the 1098 delegates represented 395 organizations from 30 different countries and study sessions were held and the why, when and how of disarmament was discussed and resolutions formed, which were sent on to the Geneva conference and to the council of the League of Nations, as they deliberated at the same time.

"Why" we should disarm was pointed out as of vital importance in the economic stability of the world. At the present time we are in a period of world dilemma, in a world of plenty there is want and hunger, and it is not caused by over production but by wrong distribution. The many leaders who spoke are working for the raising of living standards.

"When" we should disarm, is now. Economics and disarmament have much in common and an adherence to the labor organizations, the League of Nations, the world court and the Kellogg pact will do much toward reaching the goal desired. The League of Nations is in its infancy, having been formed only 11 years ago, and this method of settling disputes by the peace method has a fair chance as against the hundred of years of the war method.

"How" disarmament will come, is through a better understanding between Germany and France, the hatred among the common people of these countries must be abolished and this the intellectuals of the countries are trying to do through promoting a symposium understanding between the nations. After 25 years Germany still remains unarmed, but the other nations are still armed as heavily as before. Three points were stressed in the disarmament conference; that of reduction, security and equality; but the nations differed in their opinions of how these points would be accomplished. France asked for security first, and then she would think of reduction.

Memorable Meeting.

"November 27 was a memorable day in Paris," said Mrs. Cosel, "for it was on the evening of this date that Lord Cecil had called a public meeting, for the discussion of disarmament, and although it was against the advice of the leaders, who knew the French temperament, nevertheless the meeting was held, with Monsieur Heriot presiding. He is considered one of the strongest leaders of the country, and with 10 or 12 speakers on the platform and the microphones in place the meeting was opened, but no sooner had the presiding officer risen to his feet than a great tumult arose, from many sides, seemingly the 12 different political factions of the country had gathered a group together for the purpose of disturbance, and in spite of the hub-bub, the speakers each arose and gave their addresses, which went over the air, even if they were not audible to the audience in the hall."

With Mrs. Cosel and her traveling companion, Miss Lucille Leitchman of Hazleton, was Mme. Mary Laudner, who visited in New Castle last year as the guest of Dr. Milford Rogers, and Mme. Laudner turned to one of the young men and asked why he was raising so much disturbance, and he in reply said, "I have been paid to do so, by the Nationalists."

Mrs. Cosel said she and her companions had no thought of fright, it was more with a feeling of amazement that they watched the proceedings.

In a post-conference the leaders apologized to the delegates and said the meeting did not express the feeling of the French people in general, for they are in favor of disarmament, but it was a demonstration of the Nationalists.

Travels in Germany.

After leaving Paris, Mrs. Cosel and her companion went into Germany to visit relatives, and here meetings were arranged for interviews with prominent persons, among whom was Herr Anton Erkelenz, a member of the Reichstag, who discussed the problems confronting the German people.

In Berlin they visited the tenements as well as the beautiful hotels and theaters, and in many places saw dire distress and the despair of the people. Herr Erkelenz said to take the message back to the American people that the nation wants to pay, they want the confidence of the American people and he lauded President Hoover for the moratorium.

"Today every eye is turned on the Manchurian situation," said Mrs. Cosel, "and no amount of warfare is going to settle this dispute for all time, whereas a peaceable conference between the nations involved and the nations of the world would be the correct solution. The covenant of the League of Nations was arranged for such events as this, but the nations have not abided by their promises."

"The power of the women will be felt in the Geneva conference, and American womanhood is ably represented in Mary E. Wooley, a splendid woman, who has the support of a million women," concluded Mrs. Cosel.

Many questions were answered by this speaker at the close of her talk, and a passport was presented by a number of girls from the senior class of the high school, each being a flag of a nation as she marched in to the music of Mrs. Scott Duff, as the sayings of the representatives of the different nations were read by Mrs. George Fox.

The girls taking part were Mary Louise McCoy, Mary Jane Metzler, Jennadel Stevenson, Dorothy Blum, Lucille Kison, Ruth Brenneman, Mary Moore, Julia Sidley, Dorothy Titus, Mary Virginia Harris, and Mary Lou McCamic.

Nations Meet On Disarmament As Guns Rattle

Former British Foreign Secretary, Arthur Henderson, Opens Conference

RECESS FOLLOWS OPENING ADDRESS

By LINTON WELLS
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
GENEVA, Feb. 2.—The world conference on limitations and reductions of armaments opened at 4:34 p. m. today with delegates of fifty-four nations in attendance.

Arthur Henderson, former British foreign secretary, presided and made the address of welcome while machine guns rattled in distant Shanghai and diplomatic representatives exchanged curt notes and uttered ultimatums.

But Henderson seemed fully aware of the incongruity of a virtual state of war in the Orient while he talked of matters aiming at universal peace.

"I feel bound to refer to the tragic fact that at the moment this conference convenes we face a grave situation in the Far East," he declared.

Cites Purpose
The president cited three purposes of the conference.

"The first," he said, "is to arrive at a collective agreement upon an effective program of practical proposals to secure a substantial reduction and limitation of all national armaments."

"The second is to determine that no armaments may be maintained outside the scope of the treaty by which the nations represented here make the achievement of universal disarmament their common aim."

"The third is to insure continuity and to advance toward an ultimate goal without detracting from the success of our immediate effort by planning future similar conferences."

Henderson detailed the history of the 11 years efforts at disarmament of the League of Nations, and declared he refused to contemplate the failure of the present conference.

"The world would again be in danger of falling back into vain and perilous competition if we should fail," he said.

Henderson finished his address at 5:30 p. m., when the conference recessed.

To Fight for Life

Charged with the murder of Francis A. Donaldson, suitor for the hand of his sister, Rose, against family wishes, Edward C. D. Allen, popular young society turfman, of Philadelphia, is shown as he left Norristown, Pa., jail for the courthouse, where he was formally indicted. Allen's trial is more than usually interesting, as his sister is expected to be the State's star witness.

All-Round Fighter

Political forecasters got the surprise of their lives when Major General Charles H. Martin, U. S. A. (retired), was elected to Congress in the Third Oregon District on a soaking wet ticket, in one of the most and States in the Union. General Martin's career as a fighter is not confined to politics. He also fought in the Indian wars, the Boxer rebellion, the Philippine insurrection and the Spanish-American War.

Link With Wilson

Hale and hearty, and looking forward to many more years of life, Dr. Francis Landy, Bermuda's "Grand Old Man," is pictured in his home at Carberry Hill, Bermuda. Dr. Landy, who preceded the late President Wilson as president of Princeton University, recently celebrated his 89th birthday in the same house where he was born in 1843.

How U. S. Submarines Are Protected

Adoption of Life-Saving Device by U. S. Navy Followed S-4 Catastrophe—Successfully Demonstrated From Sunken Craft.

The terrible fate of the British submarine plane-carrier, M-2, recalls the feeling of helpless horror that swept the United States at similar fatalities in our own navy. The tragedy of the S-51, which was lost with 33 men, after a collision with the City of Rome, off Block Island, in 1925, is still vivid in our memories. Still more vivid is the catastrophe of the S-4, which went to the bottom with her crew of 40 in Provincetown Harbor, after being rammed by the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding. But these calamities taught us a lesson. The finest brains in the country were put to work in search of an efficient submarine rescue appliance. Many were produced, but the one that proved most effective in rigorous tests was the Momsen "lung."

invented by Lieut. C. B. Momsen, U. S. N. This contrivance consists of a nose clip and mouthpiece connected to a rubber oxygen bag, containing enough oxygen to enable the wearer to breathe on his way to the surface after being shot from the sunken craft. It was demonstrated under the actual conditions it would be called upon to face in a real mishap. Photos show the procedure. (1) Watching the depth gauge as the craft went to the bottom. (2) Flooding the sunken submarine. (3) The men are shown adjusting the "lung" preparatory to being shot from the craft. (4) One of the men who participated in the test is shown breaking the surface after his escape from the "doomed" craft.

Success Of Hospital Campaign Notable

While the success of the Jameson Memorial Hospital campaign for $60,000 is a matter of gratification to every citizen in New Castle and Lawrence County, the fact that it is the only hospital campaign in the United States at this time may be an added reason for satisfaction.

All over the country, campaigns for various institutions have been sidetracked this year to make way for relief campaigns to provide food, clothing and work for the unemployed. In many instances it has been felt that a hospital campaign could fail if presented to the people now.

Knowing these facts, the Board of Directors of the Jameson Memorial Hospital were presented with the two horns of a dilemma. Either try to get the money or close the hospital. They decided to let the people decide.

F. Herbert Wells, a former New Castle man, who is a member of the firm of Ward, Wells and Drishman of New York, was asked to come in and advise with the directors toward the end that some method or relief might be worked out.

Mr. Wells looked the field over and said that he thought the campaign could be put over, but in organizing the campaign he discarded the usual campaign methods. Instead he used what he terms the "Vocational Campaign" in which members of various businesses and professions are asked to solicit their own line of business.

The Vocational Campaign has not been used in cities as small as New Castle and for that reason was in the nature of an experiment. The fact that $62,658 was subscribed within the time set for the campaign, the fact that the method reduced lost motion to a minimum and produced results so satisfactorily answer the question as to whether the method is a good one.

Back of the method however must be the man and the man in this case was F. Herbert Wells. There was no ballyhoo about the campaign, no circus methods, nothing but a quiet efficiency and an intensity that put the campaign through to a result that was unexpected but highly satisfactory nevertheless.

Gas Fumes Cause Woman's Death

Husband Finds Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, Dead In Bedroom Late This Morning

Mrs. Thomas Sweeney, aged about 43, 18 West Lawrence street, was found dead in the bedroom of her home late this morning by her husband, death resulting from asphyxiation.

Mr. Sweeney had spent the night elsewhere, and returned to his home shortly before noon to find his wife lying in her bed, apparently dead. A physician was called and worked over the woman but was unable to bring her to life.

It was found that she had gone to bed last night and left a gas stove burning in the room, the room having been closed up tight.

Coroner Potter was notified early this afternoon, pronouncing her death accidental.

This will be remembered as the era in which America went broke by attending to all the world's business except her own.

Local Marine In Chinese Trouble Zone, While Aviator From Here Is Believed On Way With U. S. Force

Two New Castleites are believed to be taking an active part in the Sino-Japanese trouble, the seriousness of which is increasing daily. One is an aviator, connected with the U. S. S. Raleigh, the other is a marine.

Mrs. Fred Brudert, 716 East Reynolds street, said today that she expects a letter this week from her son, Michael Wanner, who is in the U. S. Navy air corps. She received a letter two weeks ago, when the Raleigh was in Cuban waters and when Wanner wrote that he would probably be sent to the Chinese trouble zone.

Wanner has been with the Navy for nearly five years, his mother said.

John Salmen Jr. of 908 West State street, is now on his third enlistment with the U. S. Marines and is at present stationed at Peking, the seat of the Chinese Nationalist government. He has been with the marines for nearly two years and his last letter, sent here about a month ago, stated "the Chinese fight only in the summer time."

Salmen is a brother of Mickey Salmen the local middleweight fighter.

Will Go to Geneva

Green will present the student desire for world peace on behalf of the Intercollegiate Disarmament Council and the American Christian Student movement.

NEW LINES NEEDED IN HOLIDAY TURKEYS

RENO, Feb. 2.—Nevada growers of fancy turkeys for the holiday markets are studying new styles in Thanksgiving dinner birds, following conclusion of the 1931 market.

L. E. Cline, of the Nevada agricultural extension service, recently notified the growers that the 1932 bird must have thinner lines and fewer curves.

The reason: More families are eating at home, reducing sales to restaurants, and the families are ordering lighter birds.

Lions Hear Tales Of French Legion

Capt. Hamilton's Vivid Talk At Noon Enjoyed; Club Hears Pianists

Captain Edgar Guerard Hamilton, one-time New Castle resident home on furlough from active duty in the French Foreign Legion, stirred the city's Lions Club by his descriptive talk on life in the Legion which he gave this afternoon.

Captain Hamilton told frankly the treatment of a soldier who enlists, recounted the opportunities that Legion life affords and closed by recalling some of the more vivid experiences that his association with the Legion has brought him.

The Legion's chief function, it was learned, is colonizing for France. While it serves France, few Frenchmen are enlisted in its ranks. Soldiers of other nations, 70 per cent of them German, make it up. The rest are Poles, Swedes, Russians, Italians and men of other nationalities.

Featuring the program today before Captain Hamilton's talk was a piano duet by Russell Muder and Danny Heigler, local musicians. The club welcomed Arthur Rees back today, after having missed him for weeks due to illness.

W. O. Williams led the pep singing and Arch Cubbison accompanied. B. K. Thacker introduced the speaker.

Union Is Playing Zelenople High Quintet Tonight

League Leading Zelenople Team Will Battle Union At Union High Gym

WESLEY-SHARON IN PRELIMINARY

Union High School basketball team has its work cut out for tonight when the league leading Zelenople High quintet will be the opponents at the Union High gym. The Wesley M. E. and Sharon Traxlers will play the preliminary game at 7:30 o'clock.

Zelenople has not been defeated yet in section 18 playing, and show five victories. The Union High team lost to Zelenople on the latter's floor in the opening sectional battle 34 to 26. Union will try hard tonight to avenge that setback. Coach Boyd is having a tough time to get the team pepped up about this Zelenople game.

Forwards Are Good
The invading team this evening will have two clever forwards, in Smith and Young, both high scorers among the league teams. Union's guard Monico and Jaworski will have a tough job on their hands.

At Zelenople Union held a 24 to 19 lead in the third period and then when several of the Union boys went out on personal fouls the Zelenople team shot into the lead.

A large group of backers will follow the Zelenople team here to tonight. Faculty Manager Geiger is trying to get more seating space at Union to accommodate the big crowd that is expected. Dave Hoskins will referee the game.

The probable lineup:
Union Zelenople
Lunigan F. F. Smith
Phillips F. F. Young
Augustyn C. C. Hitt
Jaworski G. G. Rogner
Monico G. G. Jockey

New Wilmington High Leads In County League

New Wilmington Is First With Union, Shenango And Bessemer Tied For Second

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Feb. 2.—By virtue of their well earned victory over Shenango High School last Friday the New Wilmington High passers are at the top of the heap in the County League with four wins and one loss.

The college town quintet have had a very good season to date, and seem to be the best bet for carrying off the county honors this year. They gave Union High a decisive lacing the first of the year, and are only losers to East Brook by a one point margin.

Coach W. Hutchinson has been playing two tests, in all his games this year, and having great success with this system of play. To date the passers have won 12 out of 15 games, having defeated several Mercer County teams, by good scores.

The following County League standings find New Wilmington High topping the other teams:
Standings: W. L. Pct.
New Wilmington 4 4 1 .800
Union High 3 2 .600
Shenango High 3 2 .600
East Brook High 3 2 .600
Bessemer High 2 3 .400

Johnson Thinks Yanks Will Be In Flag Fight

Walter Johnson Says New York, Philadelphia, And Washington To Battle For Flag

AMERICAN LEAGUE MOGULS MEETING

By JAMES L. KILGALLIN
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—"If the A's slip in the 1932 pennant race, watch the Yanks."

This was the admonition today of Walter Johnson, manager of the Washington Senators, the third-place club in 1931 in the American League pennant derby. Johnson was among the horde of baseball leaders gathered in the lobby of the hotel where the moguls discussed routine business matters such as the playing schedule and synthetic double headers.

Talk Of Trades.
There was a little talk about trades but not much, as every manager said the other fellow wanted something for nothing. Everybody said Hack Wilson, who came to town to sign with Brooklyn for $16,500 for 1932, looked to be in fine shape. There was some comment on Babe Ruth's departure for Florida to get in condition and would he have to take a cut from his $80,000 salary of last year?

But most of the conversation was about the coming pennant races. Johnson discussed the situation in his league freely with International News Service.

Good Race Ahead.
"I look for a great race in 1932," said Johnson. "I think the second division clubs will be stronger against the A's this year."

"The A's, in my opinion, got a lot taken out of them in the world series. If they slip, watch those Yanks. And our club will have to be reckoned with, too."

"You know, the A's can't afford to have any of their veterans like Cochrane, Simmons or Foxs slip in the world series but I think he will come back. He's a real star. But the A's are no sure thing this coming season by any means."

Geneva-Groves Battle Thursday

Geneva Set For League Game With Grove City Quintet Thursday At Beaver Falls

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Feb. 2.—Ken Loeffler's Genevans are busy preparing for the invasion of Grove City's crew on Thursday night. The Convenanters are in the thick of the Conference race and a victory over Grove City will give Geneva the leadership for a period. Grove City at present are leading the race with no defeats and a fine victory over a giant Westminster team.

Geneva has vanquished Wayneburg, Thiel, and Bethany but have lost to Westminster. The form of the Convenanters is constantly improving and prospects are greatly brightened by Slim Panson's return to shape and Walt Manning's great improvement. Another feature of Geneva's fine showing is the foul shooting of Captain Montgomery. He has sunk sixteen fouls without a miss in the last three games. The Gold and White record to date is ten wins against three losses.

Wilson will leave for his home in Martinsburg, West Virginia and will go from there to the Brooklyn training camp when ordered.

Hogan May Coach Wayneburg Grid Team This Fall

Carnegie Tech Floor Mentor Will Likely Be Elected At Wayneburg

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—Ralph H. (Buz) Hogan, basketball coach at Carnegie Tech, will become head football coach at Wayneburg College as soon as the necessary formalities can be arranged. It was rumored in local athletic circles today.

Frank Wolf, football and basketball coach at Wayneburg, admitted Hogan had recently discussed the position with Paul R. Stewart, president of the school, and James Miller, director of athletics. Final action will be taken next week when the board of directors convene.

Miller has resigned effective at the end of this year. Wolf will take over his duties and if the trustees of the school are willing, Hogan will become the Yellow Jacket grid mentor.

Clarence Overend, graduate manager of athletics at Carnegie Tech, said Hogan's overtures to the Wayneburg officials were made with the full permission of the Tartan school.

The contest is carded for 8 o'clock. The local red and black flyers will be in quest of their second triumph of the season over the Tigers and the eighth straight victory of the present season.

Bobsled Teams Are Up In Air

Foreign Bobsled Teams Accuse Officials Of Giving Americans All Of Breaks

CONTROVERSY AT LAKE PLACID, N. Y.

By QUENTIN REYNOLDS
International News Service Sports Writer

LAKE PLACID, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Controversy which threatened for a while to mar the peaceful observance of the third winter Olympic games today disappeared under the warming rays of common sense which were turned on the situation by the German and Swiss delegations.

The foreign bobsled teams were quite dissatisfied with the way things were going on Mt. Hovernberg.

The officials seemed to be giving the American teams all the breaks in allowing them more practice than the foreigners. Then, too, the bobsled course was too fast to be safe. It was not the danger element that the Europeans objected to, but the fact that there was no snow covering the course. This made brakes useless and the sleds hard to control.

Protests Filed.
The seven foreign delegations had an indignation meeting and after a multi-linguistic discussion decided to present their demands to the bobsled committee of Jay O'Brien, Dr. George Dewey and Earnest Gagne.

The committee went so far as to appoint Albert Mayer, of Switzerland and Erwin Hachman of Germany to take charge of the bob run, a gesture which brought satisfied smiles to the faces of the hemeted and padded European bobsledders.

Ellwood Hopes To Upset New Brighton Here

Lloyd Men Primed For Invasion Of Valley Team This Evening

Victory Over Roark Machine Will Give Locals Four Straight

ELLWOOD CITY, Feb. 2.—Every hope for an upset of New Brighton tonight on the basketball court is held by the Tube City cagers.

Coach Todd Lloyd has been working his cohorts since their third straight victory last Friday at Rochester, after a string of defeats. It is hoped that the locals are on the upgrade now. The Lloyd men have every reason now to be able to trip the valley team. Against Beaver Falls, the Tubers emerged victor by four points. Last Friday New Brighton was swamped by the Tigers at Beaver Falls, which made these three teams tied for third place at the end of the first half.

It is the general opinion that the result of Tuesday's games will place Ellwood or New Brighton in sole possession of third place. Beaver Falls is not given much chance to defeat the flashy New Castle quint. Butler is a ruling favorite over Rochester. Fans are more skeptical in predicting the outcome of the Ellwood City-New Brighton game. The benching of some of Coach Lloyd's varsity men has done the team a world of good. Two of the players have made the most impressive comeback and it is an assurance that they will start again New Brighton. The men in reference to are Tony Lattiano and Ed Smith. Both have proved to be uncan-ny shots in the past three games. The two teams are considered on an equal footing in tonight's battle.

The Specialty, runner-up in the first half is desperate. It is believed that should the Hot Mills defeat them again they are practically assured of the League cup. On every occasion the Specialty players have given the champions the stiffest kind of competition, but just lacked the punch to win. Should they win the second half they will battle the Hot Mills in a post-season series for the league championship. The Specialty is making every effort to prevent another defeat by their old rivals.

The attendance at the games is rapidly increasing and a capacity crowd is expected tonight. Following the two games a dance will be held in the auditorium.

Long Fills Needed At Proposed Bridge

County Believes This Part Of Willow Grove Work Should Be Done By State

County commissioners are in correspondence with the State Highway Department at Harrisburg relative to the building of approaches to the proposed new bridge at Willow Grove.

If this bridge is built on the location designated, it will mean a changing of the highway. The changes would necessitate the filling in of approaches, totalling around 1,200 feet. This would be a heavy expense.

In view of the fact that the bridge is not to be built on the old location, and that a new roadway has to be built, it is believed that this should be done by the state, as the bridge is on a state highway.

The correspondence now being carried on is with reference as to how will pay for fills which will be necessary in relocating the highway.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Stocks Show Slight Higher Price Trend

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—With a slight trend to higher prices, stocks churned around in a narrow range again today and the buying enthusiasm which marked yesterday's early trading was lacking.

The war-babies were cast aside in favor of the cheap public utility stocks. Electric Power, American and Foreign Power and Columbia Gas rose fractionally. Dupont, after reaching 53 in the first period, slumped off to 52 1/4. United Aircraft and Atlas Powder dropped off into slightly lower levels.

Railroad stocks ran into a stone wall of speculative selling and were unable to push beyond the best prices established in Monday's advance. Atchafalpa lost about 1 1/2 points. But the bulk of the popular rails sold within a fractional range of the previous close.

General Electric was again the weak spot of the Blue-Chip industrials and dropped back to 20 on fairly heavy selling. Motors were firm, with General Motors at 22 and Auburn 2 points higher.

Submarine Heroism Rewarded

In view of the interest and horror aroused by the calamity to the British submarine M-2, it is a curious coincidence that Roy H. Syphax (left), chief boatswain's mate of the U. S. Naval Reserve, was being decorated for heroism in risking his life to prevent such a catastrophe as that suffered by the crew of the British boat just before the M-2 took her fatal dive. Syphax is shown as Rear Admiral Henry V. Butler, commandant of the Washington Navy Yard, decorated him with the Navy Cross for his work in testing the Momsen lung device, used for escaping from sunken submarines.

State Council Takes Up Fight On Coal Rates

Greater Pennsylvania Council Will Discuss Freight Rates For Bituminous Coal

PLAN FOR SURVEY OF COAL REGION

Will Undertake To Educate Householders In Use Of Anthracite Coal

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Feb. 2.—A statewide fight for lower freight rates for Pennsylvania's bituminous coal industry was opened today by the newly formed Greater Pennsylvania Council.

At a meeting of the council, attended by 15 of its 22 members, the group voted to launch a drive for equitable freight rates and at the same time seek wider markets for distribution of building stone, slate, clay and other products produced in Pennsylvania.

Will Make Survey Dr. Charles Reitel, head of the council, announced he would make an independent survey of the bituminous industry assisted by various operators. Support of all public agencies will be solicited in the movement to secure more equitable competition for Pennsylvania producers against the southern coal markets, which now hold a freight differential advantage, according to Dr. Reitel.

Figures given the committee showed that West Virginia's coal tonnage in 1931 exceeded Pennsylvania's, as it did for the first time in 1928. Last year West Virginia produced 99,796,000 tons, against Pennsylvania's 97,276,000.

State Secretary of Mines Walter H. Glasgow pledged full co-operation of his office in the coal rate fight.

Anthracite Coal The council will also undertake to educate householders in the burning of small size anthracite coal as a domestic fuel in order to increase the market.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

In the course of a year's roaming there are many things which are seen, thought about for the moment and then forgotten. There are other things which occupy a niche in memory for a time and then fade out. And then there are some things which leave an indelible impression and are carried through as mile-stones.

Such a one of those all too few occasions was that scene in the Castleton ball room last night when the Jameson Memorial Hospital campaign closed with nearly three thousand dollars to spare over and above the amount asked for.

There have been campaigns that closed with the workers nearly pulling the chandeliers down in their enthusiasm, when the dishes on the tables were imperiled and staid business men paraded between the tables with their dignity suffering an irreparable loss.

This campaign closed with enthusiasm but most of it gave tongue through the singing of the Doxology. There wasn't much collegiate enthusiasm but there was a depth of feeling in that old hymn that gave you the feeling that you were in church.

It was a prayer of thanksgiving poured out in song. The campaign had been hard in spots, but the workers refused to quit. Day after day they went out and canvassed the city and county, sometimes meeting disappointment but steadfastly refusing to admit defeat.

Perhaps it is a sign of provincialism to admit that you are proud of your city and your fellow townsmen and it is a mark to look down for a piece of guilty. We're proud of that exhibition last night, proud of that gallant band that went out and brought in nearly sixty three thousand dollars for the hospital. Down about the third button of the vest there is a feeling that this is a darn good town, that folks hereabout will stack up with any in the entire United States and if you insist on pressing the matter we might just as well break down and confess that in our estimation they have a little on the balance of this land of the free and the home of the brave.

The pay off on the whole thing is the fact that after they had finished one campaign and were entitled to go home to the wife and radio for a rest, they step out and start another one this one for the Mayor's Relief Committee.

It's a tough thing to face but the facts are that there are people who are hungry and they have to be fed. This is to be a whirlwind campaign so be ready to kick in a line. Remember that while you may not be able to afford it, there are some folks who need the bare necessities of life.

Our Apologies to the groundhog. Yesterday we suggested that it made little difference what he saw or what he did today, and he responds by bringing us the only real snow we've had this winter. So what.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs due to colds. A full attendance of the members is anticipated.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make a full pint of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known to medicine is more helpful in cases of severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

GETTING AHEAD

(How Well Known Persons Achieved Success) BY THE SUCCESS REPORTER

J. C. PENNY

Founder of a chain store system, operating 1,500 retail drygoods and department stores.

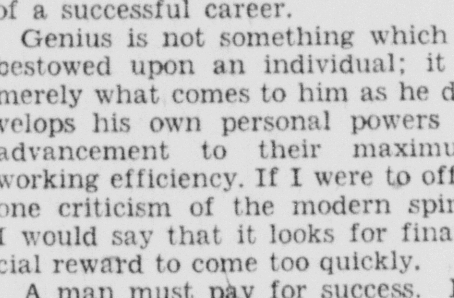

QUESTION: Do you believe the young man of today has the same opportunity you had when you started out with nothing?

ANSWER: He has a far greater opportunity than ever before, for with the growing complexities of our national living have come constantly increasing opportunities for the expression of individual initiative.

The young man today should face his own future with courage and the willingness to pay the price of success. Industry, loyalty, hard work and genuine desire to serve the public remain the basic ingredients of a successful career.

Genius is not something which is bestowed upon an individual; it is merely what comes to him as he develops his own personal powers of advancement to their maximum working efficiency. If I were to offer one criticism of the modern spirit, I would say that it looks for financial reward to come too quickly.

A man must pay for success. He must pay for it in waiting while he builds. He must pay for it by being willing to stick steadfastly to one purpose until that purpose has been achieved.

en a daughter enroute to New Wilmington to re-enter Westminster College. He was passing a large truck operated by John F. Bortzer of Tidouet near the Forest county home north of Tionesta, when he lost control of his machine.

Bortzer was absolved from blame by relatives and friends who questioned him.

Dr. Morrow was born in Rural Valley December 20, 1869. He was married to Mary Puellhart of Tidouet, who survives, with one son and three daughters, the son being John K. Morrow of Pittsburgh, postal writer on the Post-Gazette and chairman of the Pittsburgh registration commission.

He handled a large amount of real estate during his most active years and made this the main interest of his commercial life. As a business man he stood high, both as to his ability and personal honor, and his death was generally recognized as a distinct loss to the community. In his political preference Mr. Maitland was a Democrat. He was a liberal supporter of public-spirited enterprises, which promised to advance the interests of the city, and his generosity was unbounded in the cause of charity.

LOOKING BACK

IN NEW CASTLE

Among those identified with the progress of the city along real estate lines when the city was in the making was Perry Maitland, who was born in this city June 20, 1844 and who resided here during his entire life. The Maitland family was from Chester county, Pa., the grandparents of Mr. Maitland moving here and settling near what was then the little village of New Castle. Perry Maitland was given public school advantages, after which he entered business life in the capacity of a clerk in a dry goods store here, where he remained for several years. He then embarked in the grocery business for himself, which he conducted in a building located at the time on the corner now occupied by the Citizens National Bank, of which property he was the owner. In 1874 he erected the present substantial bank building, moving his old store to South Mill street. He later disposed of the bank building,
